

CAMP RAMAH IN CALIFORNIA

Family Camp

A Weekend for a Lifetime

Friday, May 28 – Monday, May 31, 2010

Nestled in the lovely hills of Ojai, California, you will find Camp Ramah at the Zimmer Conference Center. Each year, Jewish families have the opportunity to come together for a family camp experience. Family campers can unwind in a spectacular setting without worrying about cooking, cleaning, or what to do with the kids. This perfect family vacation provides a rare occasion to share the joy of learning, singing, sports, Shabbat celebration and art activities together with your family. Develop and deepen friendships with families who share a commitment to Jewish life and community.

Rabbi Abraham Havivi

BEING A JEWISH ADULT: OUR TRADITION'S WISDOM ON MARRIAGE, PARENTING, AND CARING FOR OUR ELDERS

Rabbi Abraham Havivi is a Conservative rabbi and board-certified adult and child psychiatrist. He is on the faculty at American Jewish University and UCLA. Most importantly, he is married with children, and has had parents and in-laws. Avi will be leading us in study of Jewish texts regarding the challenges of raising children, dealing with our parents, and partnering with our spouse.

Camp Activities

Campers of all ages enjoy organized activities, find adventure on their own, or just sit back and forget their cares. Enjoy excellent kosher cuisine and explore Camp Ramah's majestic acres through hiking, swimming and sports. Kids of all ages love spending time with new and old friends and developing a sense of independence in a secure and healthy environment. Adults gather each night for exciting programming with babysitting provided. Family education programs combine study with creative activities designed to enrich family life.

Throughout your time at camp, adults enjoy sessions with our exceptional Scholar-in-Residence while our wonderful staff of counselors provides activities and adventures for children ages two and older.
